

To all potential Respondents:

The following question was raised by a potential Respondent. As is the policy of the JCMUA, this question and the response will be shared with all potential Respondents. A copy of this question and the response shall be posted on the JCMUA's website and included in any Request for Qualifications sent out after this response is distributed.

Question:

In regards to the required forms, are they required for just the prime consultant or are they required of each team member?

Answer:

In the event that a Respondent is a joint venture with multiple engineering firms, all members of the joint venture must submit all of the information and required forms as listed in the Submittal section on page 5.
